WHAT IS IT

That causes such a boom at the oldest merchant tailoring establishment in the city?
The simple reason is that I am willing to live and let live, to sell you a pair of Trousers for $5 that some of my competitors sell for $7. I am now actually offering suits for $22.50 that I have in the past sold for $30.

As for my light Cheviots that I am only charging $25 for, I can positively assert that they are not equalled for that money by any other firm in the city.

I claim to make and trim my goods second to no one in Springfield, and an examination of our work will verify my assertion. I would also call your attention to our new and novel machine for making our own buttons, so that we are able to match all goods with buttons of the same material. We are also prepared to fill orders immediately for buttons of any desired material.

AN AGED ADVENTRESS.

A Woman Seventy-seven Years of Age Polling People's Legs—Her Method of Working.

A number of well known Springfield people have just passed through an interesting experience with a mighty slick old lady of seventy-seven years of age, who did them up with needles and thread. Last Wednesday a venerable looking lady of a pious cast of features, a glorious mass of gray hair and very gentle manners, applied to Mrs. Griffith, wife of S. M. Griffith, the well-known barber, of 67 west Washington street. She gave her name as Mrs. Hoover and said she was well acquainted with Mrs. Griffith's people in Pennsylvania, where Mrs. Hoover claimed to be from. Mrs. Griffith kindly took her in and cared for her. Mrs. Hoover claimed to be on her way home from Wichita, Kansas, and that her niece, Mrs.
Booker, of New Carlisle, was to join her here yesterday and go on east with her. Mrs. Griffith knew Mrs. Hoover, who is a devout Quaker, and concluded that any one related to her must be all right. Mrs.
Hoover also got acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Burnett, the grocers, of 111 Temple Wilson and other enthusiastic Pennsylvanians, and knew all their folks with great promptitude. She was very agreeable, friendly, and seemed to be a good natured person, which she was. Mrs. Hoover was just completing, and won the hearts of the little Griffith girl by promising her many pretty things if she would go with her.

Thursday morning she came down town, telling Mrs. Griffith that she was going to meet Mrs. Booker and that both would back to dinner at Griffith's. Mrs. G. laid herself out on the dinner, but nobly came, and still Mrs. Hoover failed to show up. Mrs.
Griffith finally inquired and found the old lady had gotten her valise from the L. E. A.
W. ticket agent, who had kept it for her.
She had also known her relations, by the way, and had taken the morning train to Urbana. Mrs. Griffith had business in Urbana and incidentally made inquiries about her.
It seems that she had a free blow-out at the depot restaurant on the same old game, except that this time her name was Mrs. Robinson and her son was foreman of the Dayton work house. She had gone to Cleveland from Urbana, inquired at Humber's traveling pictures a myth, and the conclusion is that she is not the same old lady is traveling solely on her nerve and venerable appearance.

A QUEER SUIT.

Timothy Rodgers seeks to Recover the Rights to an Invention from Alexander Brennan.

An interesting suit was filed in the common pleas court yesterday afternoon by Timothy Rodgers against Alexander Brennan. Rodgers brought the suit by his attorney, George Arthur, asking that Brennan be restrained by the court from converting to his use a certain valuable invention and the patent right thereof. Rodgers claims in his petition, that he has received a valuable invention, however, but that Brennan by fraudulent means caused him to believe that the invention was his, and that he had transferred the invention and the patent rights to him. Rodgers now seeks to recover his rights to the invention.

Judge White granted the usual restrain-ing order. Pringle & Johnson represent Brennan.

fective William Kirby, of the Dayton police force, will be surprised to learn that he was quietly married at noon on Wednesday to Mrs. Amanda Thomas, of Batavia, Clermont county.

Mayor Kelly left this morning for western Kansas, where he goes on business connected with the Springfield Engine and Thresher works. He will have a brief rest from the aspirants to positions on the police force, as he does not expect to return until one week from tomorrow.

it is quite sufficient to keep the feet warm and not to exhaust the lungs or stupefy the brain. All passengers are, therefore, provided with cylinders of hot water, renewed as occasion requires, on which to place their feet; they are, therefore, safe from stove accidents—Cor. New York

The Treasurer's Rubber Stamp.
A Boston theatre treasurer told me of an experience he had with a man who entered his office one day and picked up his rubber stamp. "That is a very pretty thing," said the visitor. "How does it work?" And he began stamping its impression on a large sheet of foolscap. The treasurer turned his back on the man and, as the treasurer bent over to get the sheet of foolscap left the room. That night the house was flooded with passes for two or three people each, with the treasurer's office stamp beneath them.—
